UP IN ARMS - Group of local citizens have been protesting proposed site of new Seaside Library. They say that being by City Hall puts library too close to city jail and that there is no adequate transportation of elderly and children. Among protesters were Pearl Carey (center front), candidate for mayor of Seaside and Oscar Lawson (third from right), candidate for city council.

UCB Statement About Hiring

The Monterey County Home Town Plan, as reported in the Seaside POST of January 30, accused United California Bank of "not hiring according to affirmative action." The bank stoutly refutes the allegation and responds that UCB employs 18 persons fulltime at its office in Seaside. Fifteen employees, or nearly 84 percent, are women and seven, or 39 percent of the total, are minority. There is minority and female representation at the official and manager levels.

The bank strongly supports the concept and the mandate of providing equal employment opportunity as well as equal opportunity for credit and lending practices. The POST article also questioned the bid award procedure for UCB's new office in Seaside, currently under construction at Olympia and Fremont.

The bank responds that procedures are essential for proper and legitimate bidding on all major contracts and that standard procedure was followed with the project awarded to the lowest bidder. The bank is not responsible to enforce compliance of public laws by other organizations, nor can the bank presume to represent the operations of organizations with which it conducts business.

The new UCB office in Seaside is needed because of the community's growth that is evident in the steady increase of bank customers. UCB will be able to provide improved service to its customers, and the new office will be an asset to the community. UCB believes that it has demonstrated an excellent record of affirmative action hiring in Seaside and that allegations to the contrary are not warranted. We extend our gratitude to the many individuals in the Seaside area who have expressed a strong faith in and understanding of our objective to be quality citizens on both individual and business levels in Seaside.

UCB believes that it has demonstrated an excellent

UCB Meets With Community Leaders

A meeting was called, Wednesday, February 6, between the UCB officials, Mayor B. J. Dolan, members of the Monterey Hometown Plan, and The Seaside POST & News Sentinel, at the request of W. Sosic, Branch Manager, Seaside Branch of United California Bank.

At the meeting, representing United California Bank were: Bud Powers, Regional Manager Administrator for the area; Gil Rusk, San Francisco; Al Pylaster, UCB, the Affirmative Action Officer and W. Sosic.

Representing the City of Seaside were: Mayor B. J. Dolan, Vice Mayor Stephen Ross, and Don Likas, Human Relations Committee, City of Seaside.

Representing the Monterey Hometown Plan were: Richard T. "Dick" Joyce, Clintell C. Porter, and Tom Nash, representing the Seaside POST.

Pearl Carey, candidate for Mayor, and Oscar Lawson, candidate for City Council were present, along with Bill Brown, president of the Seaside Chamber of Commerce.

The UCB officials charged that the attack on the United California Bank as it appeared in the Seaside POST & News Sentinel was unwarranted.

Mr. Powers stated: "We are naturally quite concerned about the feeling here that UCB is not doing its part as far as minority hiring and letting contracts is concerned. As far as the hiring practices of the bank we feel that we are doing an adequate job in Seaside and as a matter of fact state why. We have what I think is an outstanding record of affirmative action in our bank and I think our bank stacks up really well with other employers in the State." He stated that UCB, Seaside, did have 40 percent employees who were minority. As far as letting contracts he stated "When ever we let a contract we have several considerations.

"The main considerations are (1) the ability of the contractor to meet his financial requirements. (2) A bank being a specialized sort of building with vaults, etc., we would prefer, if possible, to get a contractor who has had experience building this type of building."

He stated that as far as he knew it was not the practice for private businesses to advertise in a public newspaper for bidders as public agencies do. He further stated they do try and get a selected list of bidders who are financially responsible and have experience in constructing a building of this size.

"The fact that the contractor does not have a number of minority employees I really don't feel, is a reflection on the United California Bank," Powers said.

He further stated: "I do understand the contractor is an equal opportunity employer and I have no breakdown on what his employee make-up is."

At the request of UCB, Dick Joyce explained the functions of the Monterey Hometown Plan, who has the responsibility of placing minorities in both the

Blood Donor Week Is Feb. 17-23

Carter Stanley of Monterey, volunteer chairman of public information under the American Red Cross/Community Hospital Blood Bank Program has announced plans for a Blood Donor Week on the Peninsula from Feb. 17-23. According to Stanley, "Present and future demands for blood are constant. We are working on plans for contacts with every organization, every club and business to learn about our program."

"We want to make a really profound impact on the many who could become donors and keep our hospitals supplied with the blood which is always needed. Every year, lives have been saved and the health of millions of Americans has been improved through the use of blood and specific products made from it."

"We hope to educate and impress upon the people of this area just what blood does for them. It is our hope that everyone will become interested, to become involved, if they can't give blood themselves perhaps they will find someone who can. We want to keep them abreast of the latest in blood techniques so that they will be assured of the value of blood and its derivatives," he concluded.

In December 1973, announcement was made of a cooperative agreement between the Community Hospital of Monterey and the American Red Cross Carmel and Monterey Chapters. The program was established to make it more convenient for volunteers to donate blood and satisfy the Community blood needs of the Monterey Peninsula. Potential donors may call 624-6921 or 624-5311 Ext. 316.

Those working with Mr. Carter on the Public Relations Committee include: Mrs. Saul Weingarten, American Red Cross Blood Program Chairman; Miss Helen Heavy, former Carmel Chapter Red Cross board member and advisor; Miss Dorothy James, former Carmel Chapter Executive Secretary; Mrs. Harold E. Snow, Jr. PR for Carmel-Monterey, American Red Cross; Mrs. C.G. Rau, Red Cross/Community Hospital Blood Donors Telephone Unit; Mr. Harold E. Snow, Jr., contact for information distribution areas.

ARMY RECRUITER

Hello everybody.

Would you believe carpenters are employed in almost every type of construction activity? They erect the wood framework in building, install molding and wood paneling, window sashes, doorframes, doors and hardware. They also build stairs and lay floors. And, of course, it's not enough that the things they build are properly functional—they must also be reasonably attractive.

Most carpenters working in new construction are employed mainly by contractors and homebuilders at construction sites. A large number perform maintenance work in factories, hotels, office buildings and other large establishments.

Young people wishing to enter this field are generally advised to enter an apprenticeship program. Generally, such programs last four years. People with experience are usually preferred. TODAY'S ARMY has a need for carpenters. Those who qualify can enlist in TODAY'S ARMY for the carpenter's school at Fort Leonard Wood in Missouri. There, enlistees will learn all aspects of carpentry, such as examination of blueprints, sketches, drawing and plans for new construction. They learn print reading, preparation of layout material and the coordination of carpentry work with plumbing, heating and electrical work. After completing advanced individual training at Fort Wood, enlistees are sent to the installation they selected prior to their enlistment. This may include hundreds of installations all over the world. In addition to providing young men with the kind of professional instruction and invaluable work experience that most civilian employers prefer, TODAY'S ARMY offers an attractive wage and benefit package.

Think about it. TODAY'S ARMY is not a bad way for young men and women to build themselves a future.

For more information concerning TODAY'S ARMY's job opportunities, please write us at 431 Webster St. Monterey, or call 372-4742/372-0553.

Ford To Visit Peninsula

Vice President Gerald Ford has chosen the new 16th Congressional District for his first visit to the West Coast since assuming the nation's second highest office.

This was the announcement made recently by Congressman Burt L. Talcott, Salinas.

"I am delighted to be able to tell residents of the new 16th District in Monterey, San Benito, San Cruz and San Luis Obispo Counties, that our area is high on the priority list of the Vice President.

"I have discussed with him our concern over agriculture, tourism and defense facilities and he has accepted my invitation to visit the 16th District.

"The energy crunch, the economic situation, housing, and the considered care of our magnificent environment are among the things I will be talking about with the Vice President," Talcott said.

On the evening of Thursday, April 18, Vice President Ford will be the speaker at a dinner at the Monterey County Fairgrounds, honoring Congressman Talcott, it was stated today by Richard L. Bruhn, Chairman of the Re-elect Talcott Committee.

Club Helps Many On Peninsula

The Altrusa Club of the Monterey Peninsula, at its monthly dinner at La Playa, Carmel, discussed the club's fulfillment up to date, of the biennial Altrusa International theme: "BE A CHANNEL FOR CHANGE".

The vocational grants have been allotted to assist women to upgrade themselves in the nursing profession.

To assist handicapped persons in approaching more of the community events in comfort, the club donated the lumber for a movable ramp, used at Pacific Grove Junior High School -- and adaptable to other auditoriums. It is expected that other ramps will be constructed for use at public buildings.

Another 1973 service took the form of a "Kitchen Shower" for MEALS ON WHEELS.

In the hope of creating changes also, in the lives of foreign students, hospitality at homes and club dinners continues to be a major contribution of the club. In common with all other Altrusa Clubs in thirteen countries, the local one adds to the Grants-in-Aid for foreign students at the graduate level, who find themselves in need of emergency funds.

Community agencies such as Salvation Army and YWCA, Campfire Girls and others, continue to be recipients of assistance from Altrusa members, both in financial contributions and in "channels for change" through career guidance activity on the Monterey Peninsula.

Schools Celebrate Black History Week

African costumes, song, poetry, art, discussions groups, films and community visitors will highlight Black History Week in classrooms throughout the Monterey Peninsula Unified School District which continues through Feb. 15.

At one school, the week will be shared with students from a Pacific Grove school.

Wilson Riles, California's superintendent of public instruction, has urged educators throughout the state to observe the week and "provide activities which enrich the appreciation of children and adults for what Black people have done for our country." He suggested that the week be used to "renew dedication to the guiding principles of the Constitution and the couae of equal rights for all, to pay homage to great men and women of the Black race, and to renew acquaintance with a significant part of our national heritage."

MPUSD Supt. James Harrison has invited parents to join with their children at school in observing the week by attending some of the special events being held on various campuses.

James Solberg, Seaside High principal, has invited the public to visit Black history classes held there

Chinese Art Displayed

During the month of February, honoring the Year of the Tiger in the Chinese lunar calendar, the Seaside Art Commission is presenting a special one-woman show of Chinese paintings by a very talented and sensitive artist, Mun Wa Chau, or Mrs. Dale King, of Hong Kong and San Francisco.

Mrs. King came from a highly educated family in Canton, China. At the age of 19, she entered the South China Medical College there and later graduated from the China Medical College in Kowloon. She practiced medicine successfully in Hong Kong and Kowloon for many years. Meanwhile, she was taking private lessons in painting from Prof. Shao AN Chao, a famous master of the Ling Nam Art Academy. Her paintings of flowers, birds, insets, shrimps, fishes, landscapes, etc. are in many private collections and art galleries.

This charming artist has had many one-woman shows in Singapore, Hong Kong, San Francisco, Los Angeles, Chicago, New York, Houston, Miami, Atlanta, and other cities. She has won many prizes and gold plaques and has demonstrated her art before large groups. It was quite a social event when she married the well-known Chinese dentist, Dr. Dale King of San Francisco. He, too, is an accomplished Chinese musician. They both own the Mandarin Co. at 64 Wentworth St. in Chinatown, selling Chinese musical instruments and her Chinese scrolls and painting.

This rare exhibit will be open to the public during the regular City Hall office hours, 8 to 5, from Monday to Friday, until Feb. 28.

any day of the week. Two classes meet daily at 10 a.m. to 11 a.m., he said.

At Monterey High, according to Jeannine Wiles, assistant principal, the week will be observed with a fashion show and art from Soledad, skits about famous Black Americans, and by visits to classrooms by local business people who will discuss job opportunities.

Mary Thomas, dean at King Junior High School, said Feb. 11 was Black Professional Day on that campus. Thirty-five Black professionals from the community visited classrooms to talk with students, she said. Today, Feb. 13 students will take a Black history test. Prizes will be awarded to top scorers. On Feb. 14, the school will hold a poetry contest for all students on the theme of Black history.

On the same day, from 12:25 to 12:45 p.m., African clothing made by the students will be modeled. A general assembly will be held on Feb. 15 featuring the school's choir and band, an after-school modern dance group and winners of the various events during the week.

Principals at Colton and Fremont junior high schools said that will share the film, "King" and hold discussions about Black history. At Fremont, Black community members will also visit social science classrooms.

James Malone, Fitch Junior High principal, said that school's music classes will feature special songs, poetry and dance all week. A social science class will be developing personal histories of slave families. Art classes will studying African art and reading classes will be featuring short stories on contributions of Black people to the American way of life.

Los Arboles Junior High students will be discussing Black history in their social science classes, according to Stanley Cook, assistant principal.

Ord Terrace School in Seaside will hold an assembly on Feb. 13, and on the 14th 60 ehirnd and sixth graders from Lighthouse School in Pacific Grove will visit, putting on a joint prohran add spending the entire day with a "pal" from Ord Terrace. Ord Terrace students will make a return visit to Lighthouse School in April. Ord Terrace students will also be making special presentations on Black history at Monte Vista and Foothill schools on Feb. 20 and at Hilltop School on Feb. 21.

At Covell School, teacher aide Veneta Coleman will be displaying African dress and other items gathered through travels with her family and will be putting on slide shows on Africa. The fourth grade class of teacher Bill Hill will be showing other classes a Black history program they produced on video tape.

Cabrillo School students are preparing a multi-ethnic cookbook. Teachers at most other schools in the district will be discussing Black history in their classrooms, and many rooms and libraries will feature displays of various kinds designed to further knowledge about contributions by Black people, school officials said.

journeyman and apprenticeship training program. He stated one of the areas of responsibility of the Hometown Plan is to check on building projects in Monterey County to insure that minorities are given an equal opportunity in employment.

Nash reminded Powers that the UCB had a responsibility to insure that any business doing business with UCB must have an affirmative action program. This included independent contractors, as well as employees. He stated it was the duty of UCB to insure that the strict guidelines of Public Law 88-352 must be followed. With reference to a remark made by UCB that they had no say so about the makeup of the contractor's work force, Nash said:

"You pay the check. Any person who has construction being performed has the right to advise the contractor in the manner in which he is doing the job is getting the owners into trouble. And let me assure you that a contractor is not going to go against the wishes of the person paying the tab."

"You see, Nash stated, 'You are dealing with the new Black in the economic mainstream. And if you think you are going to deal with him as you did the Black of 20 years ago, then you have just written yourself a check that is going to bounce. Jim Brown put it so eloquently that none have been able to add to it or detract from it. He said, 'Be a producer as well as a consumer.' This is what we are talking about."

Don Likas, Human Rights Commission, was concerned about whether UCB was "thin-skinned" about having been singled out as the target of the confrontation. He asked if UCB was afraid that the publicity would harm them.

"It brings up a couple of interesting points," he said. "It seems that someone has not done their homework. Why does government have to go out and give newspapers information on contracts and not private industry? Because the Unions brought the government to it's knees."

"This gentleman sitting up here at the head of the table (Mayor Dolan) spends our money, but boy he has to advertise for every contract in the newspaper. You're putting up a big building, you don't have to. Why are you different than the taxpayer? You pay me my dividend, and I get more dividend from you than I do from the bonds. It is a whole can of worms and it concerns me, because what can I do as a Human Relations Commissioner, if I can't sit down here and point out what concerns me. Social responsibility and being 'thinned-skinned' don't go together," he said.

Mayor Dolan pointed out that he had received a document from the Federal Government which pointed out specifically what he had to do, regarding minority employment. (He was referring to the new Library Grant received from the Economic Development Agency).

"Exhibit 'A' spell out what Tom, Dick and Clint have been talking about. When you award a contract, the grantee shall obtain from each of it's contractor and sub-contractors the following information that shall be transmitted to the EDA Regional Office: (1) a completed weekly payroll form which the contractor has indicated those employees who were unemployed or underemployed prior to the application for the project. A listing of those employees reported by the contractor whose resident is within the EDA designated project area, and prior to the disbursement of funds Grantee will execute and record with the government satisfactory to the government, etc.

"It spells out what the city will do with reference to employment of citizens in the city. I don't care who gets the bid, the contractor will live with this and he is going to hire that 40 percent of the local community or else that project doesn't go. And weekly we are going to be riding herd to see that it is done," he said.

"Now I think that what I am hearing loud and clear from Clint, Dick and Tom is that they are asking you do do the same with your contractors, because if you are going to attach this kind of condition to your contractors, whether you have a closed list or not, before you advertise for bid, it would behoove you or any other employer, and you are the employer, you will have some teeth."

Mrs. Pearl Carey, the minority representative of FEPC stated:

"I happen to be the one who gave UCB trouble about your FEPC plan. I haven't taken my money out of UCB as yet, but I know a lot about the things that have been happening at UCB, and I will take it out, unless we do something."

"You said there was nothing that could be done in that you have let the contract. You can do something. Your building does not have to go up. Believe me, we can stop that building from going up because of the Affirmative Action Plan. I do suggest that you talk with Mr. Frattessa, and not wait too late to get back, because time is in essence. The time has come now when they are not recognizing minorities any more, they are going to help the Indians. The minorities have been forgotten. Now if he doesn't try to do something for himself, and you don't try to help him, and use your place to help him, then things can happen. I am not threatening you, I am only telling you what the law says."

Dick Joyce stated the Monterey Hometown Plan was a member of the Building Exchange, "We became a member to become abreast of all the changes in Monterey County. I think Mr. Nash mentioned $98 million in construction monies in Monterey County. That amount is now $148 million. If we could get our fair share, or if we could get one percent of this amount we would consider that we have made a giant step."

Steve Ross stated that UCB just happened to be building at this time, and became the victims of this time. But "we have to use any and all tactics to get involved. We can't wait for apprentices to get trained. We have to get people from wherever we can. You have to use your influence to help us. All we say is that you have to follow the agreement, and if you don't follow the agreement we have machinery out there to deal with that," he said.

As I See It

by Mel Vercoe

The Great Toilet Paper Shortage, recently a humor topic for this column, has now become a reality. Supermarket tissue shelves are sometimes bare except for little signs asking customers to ease the problem by limiting purchases. The natural and immediate reaction of the average red-blooded American is, of course, to buy up as much as possible before the hoarders beat him to it.

Actually, the paper shortage is much like the gasoline shortage - partly real but mostly contrived as a barely legal means of hiking prices. Just looking at the dozens of pages of frivolous advertising in magazines and newspapers should convince most observers that we have not yet run out of paper. It would be interesting, if paper does become scarce, to find out which products we Americans would be willing to give up last. Would it be paper towels, sports pages, comics, Sears catalogs, Newsweek, girlie magazines, or toilet paper?

There should be exciting times ahead. Shady looking characters with bulging overcoats will bruch prostitutes out of the way in dark alleys to approach desperate looking citizens with such tempting sales pitches as "hey, buddie, wanta buy some top quality toilet tissue straight from Canada?" This should ease the unemployment problem because several government agencies, the Internal Revenue Service, Franchise Tax Boards, various city licensing agencies, the U.S. Customs and the CIA will have to hire thousands of agents to combat widespread paper bootlegging. The bootleggers in turn will have to form underground conglomerates, complete with sharp attorneys and gunmen to fight off the revenueurs and the hijackers.

The attorneys will be especially important because it has been demonstrated in two world famous cases that legal technicalities are extremely important. Al Capone got away with everything in the book only to be hooked on such an unglorious charge as income tax evasion. The same thing happened many years later to the outstanding American folk hero Spiro Agnew.

So we see that nothing is necessarily all bad. The black market, with its exciting running gun battles between the paper smugglers and the Eliot Nesses will keep us entertained and many of us gainfully employed during the upcoming Great Johnson-Nixon Depression of the 1970's. Hang in there, friends. Remember, it is much better to be rich and healthy than to be miserably poor and sick.

Extension Courses Announced

Whether your interest is psychotherapy, political issues or the European mind, an extension class of San Jose State University planned for Monterey County during the spring semester is sure to please.

More than a dozen courses have been scheduled for Camel, Monterey, Pacific Grove, Salinas and Seaside. Students participating in an extension class receive academic credit but do not have to go through normal admission procedures. Tuition fee is $26 per unit.

The classes span many subjects - history, political science, psychology, foreign languages and education - and many are designed to offer teaching techniques to elementary and secondary instructors.

For example, a two-day workshop for nursery school and kindergarten teachers in applying behavior principles to the young child will be held at the Asilomar Conference Grounds in Pacific Grove March 16-17. For one unit of credit, participants will learn new techniques of child observation, behavioral analysis and positive reinforcement.

Another teacher-oriented class has been scheduled for Seaside - a survey of multi-media materials and methods in literature for children and young adults. A two-unit course, it will meet Tuesday evenings, beginning Feb. 19, from 7 to 10 p.m. at the Learning Resource Center of Highland School.

Six classes are set for Monterey:

"History of Education," two units, Tuesday, beginning Feb. 19, from 7 to 10 p.m. at Monterey High School.

"Readiness Programs in Early Childhood, three units, Tuesdays, beginning Feb. 19 from 7 to 10 p.m. at Oak Grove Center.

"Cooking as an Educational Experience in Early Childhood," two units, Thursday beginning Feb. 21, from 7 to 10 p.m. at Oak Grove Center.

700 To Attend Meet

The conference will be held from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. both days at the Holiday Inn, 2600 Sand Dunes Drives, Monterey.
